

Bollington Festival Music Theatre

Buccaneers of the Bollin

Who needs the Caribbean when there's a preposterous posse of pirates right on Bollington's doorstep? A brand new Festival show full of songs and action which will delight young and old at the 2019 Festival.

Would you belong to this belligerent band of buccaneers or battle them? Whichever you choose, you should turn up at Bollington Arts Centre on Sunday 10th February, ready to try out the script and the songs. Performance: 26th May 2019.

As well as the show, cast members can take part in Best of Bollington, the Festival Parade, and the Railway Cassation Workshop.

Buccaneers of the Bollin

is the latest brand new musical play from the Music Theatre for children aged 8-13 set in the town at the time the railway arrived 150 years ago. All can take part without audition and for a one off subscription of £20 or less.

A free Taster Session allows everyone to decide whether to join in, and casting is then decided without formal audition during the first two rehearsals.

The public performance bookable via Bollington Festival 2019 will be on stage, in costume and with live music.
